

RED LINE IS THE CUT LINE

The diagram shows a business card layout with three main horizontal lines: a red line at the top, a blue line in the middle, and two green lines at the bottom. Arrows point from the text labels to their respective lines. The red line is the top edge of the card. The blue line is the bottom edge of the main content area. The two green lines are the fold lines for a tri-fold card. The background is a light gray with a large, faint, stylized 'X' shape.
